Any one wishing to inspect the proposed by-laws may do so, free of charge, during office hours, on any working day at the office of the Keeper of Records, Central Municipal Office, where a printed copy of the draft by-laws will be kept for a month from the date of publication hereof. (1) Every person bringing a corpse of a deceased person for burial or cremation or for disposal otherwise to a burial or burning ground or other place for disposal of the dead, and particularly the person signing the Register of Deaths as an informant, shall cause all cloth, bedding and other articles, which are brought to such ground or place and which have come in contact with the dead body or the bier, to be destroyed to the satisfaction of the Sub-Registrar of the said burial or burning ground or other place for the disposal of the dead.

(2) Bulky articles, such as cots, biers or carriages in which dead bodies are borne to places for the disposal of the dead shall, if not destroyed, be thoroughly disinfected, whether the dead bodies carried infection or not, to the satisfaction of the Sub-Registrar. A charge shall be payable for such disinfection as the Corporation may from time to time fix.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

Calcutta, the 6th December 1951.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL

Calcutta, the 2nd August 1951.

liminary Forecast of the Jute Crop of West Bengal for 1951.

he preliminary forecast deals with the area the condition of the crop in the early part of jute growing season. The estimate of outturn lown in the final forecast.

he survey for the preliminary forecast was pleted by the middle of June when much could not be sown owing to late rains this r. Subsequently the Government of India's ision about the change of dates of jute forecast received but as the intimation came too late another complete survey the staff of the Direc- te could only revise the estimates of the first ey in the light of informations collected of late ing which continued up to the third week of this year. Consequently, the figures shown his forecast are provisional and will be revised he final forecast.

rea sown.—In West Bengal, 7,51,900 acres estimated to have been sown with jute crop this year compared to 6,50,900 acres, the final estimate of last year.

Season.—Pre-monsoon showers occurred in the third week of March in certain districts where some areas could be sown early. In most of the areas, sowing actually commenced by the middle of June and at places at the end of June and continued till the third week of July. The scanty rainfall in March, April and in the greater part of May delayed the sowing operation. The intermittent rains and sunshine were favourable for the post-sowing operations and the growth of the crop.

The heavy showers in the second week of June inundated jute fields in some areas of Jalpaiguri district but the damage was negligible. There were attacks of insect pests in many cases and effective control measures were taken in most of the cases.

The prospect of the crop is very good.

Stock.—No stock practically remains in the hands of the cultivators from the crop of the previous year.

H. K. NANDI,
Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

Final Forecast of Autumn Rice Crop of West Bengal for 1951-52.

[Note.—The figures of last year except that of Cooch Behar shown in this forecast are based on the results of sample survey conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute while the figures of this year are based on the results of sample survey conducted by the State Statistical Bureau. The figures of Cooch Behar for last year have been estimated by the staff of this Directorate.

The estimates of outturn for both this year and last year are based on the results of crop cutting experiments by random sampling method.]

Seasons.—As reported in the preliminary forecast the sowing was hampered to some extent in most of the districts by drought in the early stage. The growth of the crop was also adversely affected in most of the districts by another drought which occurred later. The weather conditions have, however, been somewhat favourable in some districts in the later part of the season.

Area and yield.—Eleven lakhs sixty-eight thousands and five hundred acres have been estimated to be under autumn rice this year compared to 1,124,300 acres last year.

The total outturn of the crop for the State as a whole in terms of cleaned rice has been estimated at 359,700 tons this year as against 335,900 tons last year.

The average yield of cleaned rice per acre for the State as a whole is estimated at 8·380 maunds this year as against 8·132 maunds last year.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL.

Calcutta, the 24th October 1951.

Final Forecast of Potato Crop of West Bengal for the year 1950-51.

Note.—The figures of both this year and last year under winter potato shown in this forecast are based on the results of sample survey conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute. The figures of summer potato shown in this forecast are based on the reports received from the staff of this Directorate.

[As the figures of 1949-50 for the Cooch Behar district are not available, this year's figures have been shown in the last year's column in order that the total West Bengal figures may be approximately comparable.]

Season.—Though the weather conditions were not favourable in almost all the districts during the sowing time, the subsequent weather conditions have, however, been favourable for the growth of the crop.

Area and Yield: Winter potato.—87,600 acres have been estimated to be under winter potato this year compared to 99,400 acres, the revised estimate of the last year. The total outturn of the crop for the State as a whole is estimated at 357,400 tons this year as against 345,900 tons, the revised estimate of the last year. The average outturn per acre of the crop for the State as a whole is estimated at 111·06 maunds this year as against 94·73 maunds, the revised estimate of the last year.

Summer potato.—Summer potato grows only in the hilly regions of Darjeeling district. The total area under summer potato in these regions is estimated at 3,400 acres this year compared to 1,800 acres last year. The increase in acreage is due to intensive propaganda, high prices of potato and the favourable weather conditions. The outturn of summer potato is estimated at 9,400 tons this year as against 4,600 tons last year. The average outturn per acre of the crop is estimated at 75 maunds this year compared to 70 maunds last year.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

Calcutta, the 29th January 1952.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL.

Calcutta, the 29th January 1952.

Second Forecast of Winter Rice Crop of West Bengal for 1951-52.

Note.—The figures of last year shown in this forecast have been taken from the last year's final forecast and are based on the result of sample survey conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute. This year's sample survey has been carried out by the State Statistical Bureau and the estimates of area shown herein are based on 41 per cent. of the total samples, surveyed and, as such, subject to slight revision in the final forecast when the results of analysis of complete data will be available. The average rates of yield per acre shown for the current year are based on the reports of the agricultural staff.]

Season.—As reported in the first forecast, the ason was very bad in the beginning. Owing to ought prevailing for long in most of the districts rge areas could not be transplanted in proper time. With rainfall occurring later considerable area was, however, brought under plough but still on quite a large area, winter rice could not be grown this year. Subsequent weather conditions have been fair. Owing to drought and late transplantation, the average yield per acre has recorded a fall compared to previous year.

Area and yield.—8,447,700 acres have been estimated to be under winter rice this year compared to 8,261,300 acres and 8,637,200 acres reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecast of last year.

The production of cleaned rice is estimated at 2,932,500 tons this year compared to 2,987,400 tons and 3,559,100 tons reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecast of last year.

The average yield of cleaned rice per acre for the State as a whole is estimated to be 9·45 maunds this year as against 9·843 and 11·216 maunds reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecast of last year.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

RECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL.

Calcutta, the 31st March 1952.

rd and Final Forecast of Winter Rice Crop of West Bengal for the Year 1951-52.

The figures of last year shown in this forecast have been taken from the last year's final forecast and are based on the results of sample survey conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute. This year's sample survey has been carried out by the State Statistical Bureau and as such, the estimates of areas and outturn for this year are based on the results of sample survey and crop cutting experiments conducted by them. As the sample survey is not carried out in the hilly subdivisions of Darjeeling district, the estimates of this district both last year and this year, have been framed by this Directorate.]

Season.—As reported in the first and the second forecast, large areas could not be sown and transplanted in proper time owing to severe drought prevailing for long in most of the districts. With the help of rainfall occurring later, considerable area was, however, brought under the crop but still on quite a large area, winter rice could not be grown this year. Owing to drought and late transplantation the average yield per acre has also recorded a fall compared to last year.

Area and yield.—8,278,200 acres have been estimated to be under winter rice this year compared to 8,637,200 acres of last year.

The production of cleaned rice is estimated at 3,103,300 tons as against 3,559,100 tons last year.

The average yield of cleaned rice for the State as a whole is estimated to be 10·204 maunds per acre this year compared to 11·216 maunds per acre last year.
